Through the halls of learning, knowledge is found.

From West to East...Experience the Old

To the 1963 Pekinian Staff came the hope of presenting a story of student life, a record of the accomplishments of Pekin Community High School. For us, next year's East Campus will bring a new home to juniors and seniors while the West Campus will remain for freshmen and sophomores. And yet, beyond these sturdy buildings comes the endless training of students' minds and hands. Herein lies the future, and in the future lies better knowledge.

Seen from across the circular service drive, the English Building has served since its erection in 1955 as a home for speech, publications, English, Latin, and mathematics classes.

At night the glare of building lights reflects upon the gentle fall of rain.

Named after Jimmy "Doc" Lee, the Leeway provides an easy passage between buildings and is used as the site of the all-school dances.

For years the Broadway Street entrance has served visitors to the Old Building.

Beginning in mid-May of 1962, architects Foley/Hackler/Thompson/Lee teamed with the Kuhne-Simmons Construction Company of Champaign to build the new East Campus of PCHS. The structure will house juniors and seniors and may have a capacity for 2000 students.

Located across from Building B will be the Little Theater, with a seating capacity of 600 persons, designed specifically for drama and small musical groups. Besides the major classroom area, there will also be a cafeteria, kitchen, mechanical plant, and gymnasium.

Unique in feature, the new gymnasium roof will be supported entirely by four interior concrete pylons.

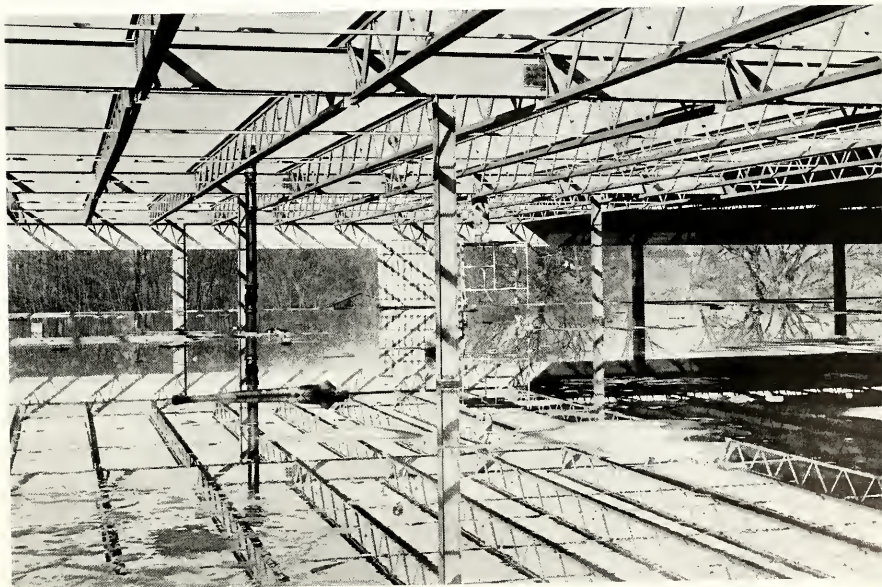

These pipes, steam lines, chilled water lines, and heat runs, are installed in the series of tunnels surrounding and connecting East Campus Buildings.

Employed by the Board of Education, the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory constantly checks critical items of construction. Welding tests are tests made by the use of X-rays, and welders, themselves, are to be tested as to their qualifications.

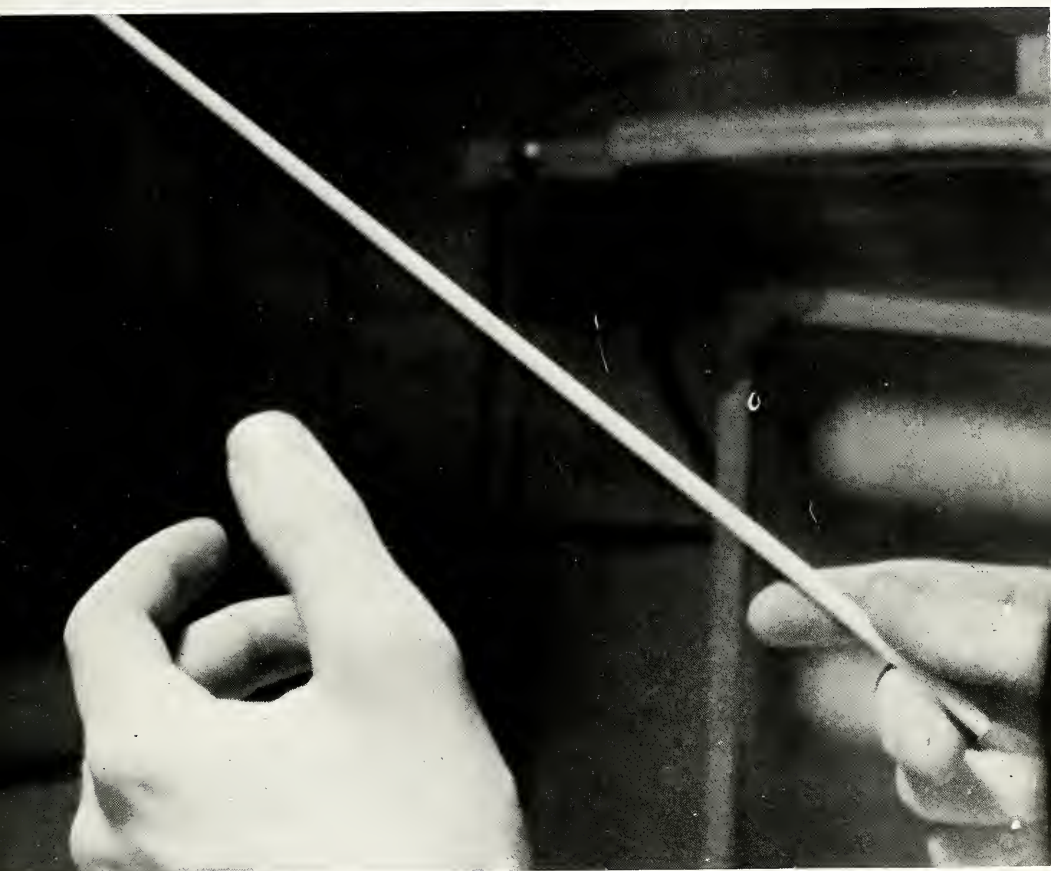

Below is pictured Building C which will house the classrooms. Here the steel roof is in place and is reflected in the scattered puddles of water.

STUDENT LIFE . . .

Eager voices ride on silent winds . . . a student enters high school and a new door of learning, friendship, and adventure opens. Through the hustle of registration he comes, bedraggled, tired, and possibly frightened, but time mends the way. With the advent of autumn comes the routine of tion so important to his future. Yet, in the passing from class to class, time is expended for an occasional pause before a mirror while night time carries the fun of adolescence with a call from the favorite boy friend.

In winter, work progresses, sometimes extending to the aid of people out of school. And . . . when school ends, the student may shut his eyes, but never his mind to the fun, adventure, and knowledge learned in the year.

FALL PLAY—Ah, Wilderness

"Ah, Wilderness," Eugene O'Neill's nostalgic look at family life in 1906, was given on the stage of Pekin High's auditorium last fall. O'Neill's look at the problems of a youth who is attempting to force his way into maturity has a fresh contemporary view.

Ric Dancey played the role of Richard Miller, the rebellious teenager. His father was played by Jim Eichelberger and his mother by Carol Netherton. Jim Ramey portrayed the role of Sid, a drunk who hopelessly loves Lilly, played by Carol Vucich. Richard's love, who was played by Sharlyn Singley and Curta Langford was the "swift babe" from New Haven.

The other children in the Miller family were portrayed by Julie Yock, Ronald Krannich and John Smith. Also, John Alessi played the role of a playboy from Harvard.

The play was directed by Miss Edith Harrod who was assisted by Gregory Chase, Valarie Harlan, Marilyn Mathias, Susan Warren, and Mari-beth Wright. The stage manager for the production was Terry Jones.

"Gosh, but I love you!"

"Richard! You're intoxicated—! You bad, wicked boy, you!"

"Down with spoons!"

"Leggo of me, you dirty coward!"

"Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert are our successors to this flat, my dear."

CONTEST PLAY

The Browning Version, Pekin High's contest play, won first place at district. Directed by Miss Harrod, the play related the events of a retiring and disliked schoolmaster of backward boys at a private school in England. In the cast were Jim Eichelberger as Andrew Crocker-Harris; Valarie Harlan as his wife Millie; Jim Ramey as Frank Hunter; Joe Ubben as John Taplow; Rich Schmiechen as Dr. Frobisher; and John Rowan and Julie Yock as the Gilberts.

"But I thought—my wife thought, that an exception was made some five years ago . . ."

"You must forgive this exhibition of weakness, Taplow. The truth is I have been going through rather a strain lately."

"I came unto the room this afternoon to find Taplow giving an imitation of you to Frank here."

SPEECH DEPARTMENT

The Speech Department, under the direction of Mr. Dougherty, is a member of the National Forensic League. Besides aiding students in ten individual events and three divisions of debate, the department broadcasts 120 radio shows a year. Students also furnish local organizations with about twenty-five club programs. Known throughout state and National competition, last year's speakers received twelve trophies and got second in state debate. This summer Jim Eichelberger will go to the Nationals in serious reading.

Beginning With a Bonfire . . .

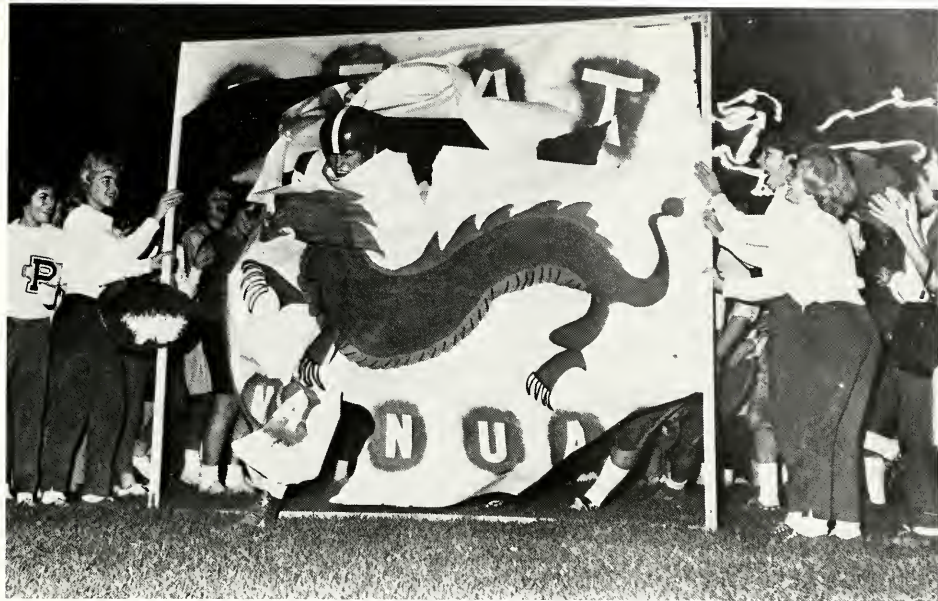

The Homecoming season began with a huge bonfire set off at the Pekin Memorial Football Stadium. While the varsity cheerleaders led a large crowd, the band played victory songs. The Students cheered wildly as the boot and dummy representing the Manual Rams burned to the ground. The following night the Homecoming football game took place with the Rams beating Pekin by a score of 41 to 0. During the half the court running for Homecoming Queen was introduced. They were escorted by their fathers.

Co-Captain, Norman Lovelace, crowned Jinna Bailey the Homecoming Queen for 1962.

Concluding With a Coronation

The Homecoming Dance, held in the Lee Way, fit its name, Autumn Splendor. The hired band supplied the evening with good music which pleased the large turn-out. As a highlight of the evening, Jinna Bailey, standing before a huge paper pumpkin made of colored napkins, was crowned Queen of the Homecoming. The complete court was Jinna Bailey, De De Jansen, Susan McMains, Cheryl Meyer, and Cheryl Thomas. They were escorted by boys who were leaders of various groups around school.

The blazing fire spreads its heat to the enthusiasm of the crowd gathered for the beginning of Homecoming.

The Bonfire festivities ignite the spirit of the students.

Princess Susan Hodges and Prince Karl Kaebel led the first dance.

FROSH-SOPH PARTY

Two mad doctors and their nurse insured everyone a good time.

"Harbor Lights," the name chosen for this year's Frosh-Soph Party, provided a colorful background for the dancing and fun had by Pekin High's underclassmen on October 26, 1962.

Princess Susan Hodges and Prince Karl Kaebel, crowned by last year's royal couple Christy Pratt and Clayton Parker, sat upon an anchor throne. Their court stood before a backdrop of imaginative fish. In the girls' gym the Student Council entertained with games and a "spook house."

With sailing as one of her favorite sports, Randi spends much of her time on Norwegian waters.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT

"From the fiords of Norway to PCHS." This describes Randi Sanden, our exchange student. Sent here from her home town of Molde, Norway, through the A.F.S., she has completed more than ten years of study at Norwegian schools where she studied algebra, physics, and French. The year she spends at Pekin High will count in her schooling. Between her six days of school in Norway, Randi enjoys such sports as swimming and sailing. In the winter her family goes to their mountain "hut," where they enjoy mountain climbing and skiing. Her town is a tourist attraction and is called the "town of roses." Norwegian girls are liked because of their friendliness, and this holds true for Randi. She likes Pekin High, but admits it is easy compared to the harder Norwegian schools. While in Pekin, Randi stayed with the Hilton Johnson family of Audobon Drive.

BAND—The Pekin High Band has proved itself to be a very versatile group of musicians. The group plays marches, popular music, and concert music. The marching band, along with the majorettes, go to the Argo game and march at all home football games. The band marches in precise and interesting formations. During the pep rallies and home basketball games, the band plays popular music. The Dance band, comprised of members of the larger band, play at the after-game dances. The band gives Winter and Spring Concerts for the public and presents an enjoyable auditorium program for the students and faculty. The band meets and practices during the first hour every day. Mr. Lawrence Fogelberg, with the help of assistant director, Mr. Ronald Benner, makes it possible for Pekin to enjoy this fine group of student musicians.

A CAPPELLA—The A Cappella Choir is made up of upperclassmen who are directed by Mr. Harry Langley and the assistant director, Mr. Ronald Benner. They meet every day during the third hour to practice. The choir is well known for the annual Christmas Vespers, which is given to the students and teachers during an auditorium period. The most memorable part of the program is the candle procession. Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite and 'Twas the Night Before Christmas have become traditional in the program which is also given for the public. The Choir also presents the annual Spring Concert and participated in the annual Mid-State Eight music festival held at Richwoods this year.

MELODY MAIDS—It is thought by many that the Melody Maids is one of the most famous high school entertaining groups of its kind in the state of Illinois. The girls' director, Mr. Langley, started the Melody Maids fifteen years ago. Since then, thousands of songs have been memorized, 1,000 appearances have been made, and 50,000 miles have been traveled. To become a Melody Maid, a student must be a junior or senior girl with a sincere desire to sing, maintain a "B" or above average, and must give up all activities that would hinder her activities with the group. The girls meet Tuesdays and Thursdays and during activity periods.

Aiming for Flawless Performances

SOPHOMORE CHOIR—The sophomore choir is made up entirely of sophomore boys and girls. These students meet with Mr. Ronald Benner, their director, every day during fourth and sixth hours. During these hours, they practice songs that they will sing in the concerts they present. The choir gives a spring concert and also presents a concert for the students and faculty during an auditorium period. During the latter part of the year, the group learns songs of the A Cappella Choir and are given the chance to try out for the junior-senior choir.

The candidates and their managers arrange signs before the announcement of the president and two vice presidents.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTIONS

In one short week, building blocks for the new Council foundation were laid. Because of the two campuses, a different system had to be used. The plan was to have a vice-president over each school, and one president over both campuses. On the day of elections, enthusiasm ran high. As Mr. Peterson announced the officers, a silence engulfed the crowd. Robyn Worth was elected President, Amel Massa Vice-president East, and Barb Brecher Vice-president West. With tears of joy and sorrow and a great round of applause, the campaign came to an end.

Patti Tucker, Vice-president West candidate, gives her campaign speech at election rally.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Chobanian, Mr. Anderson, and Miss Win-ter, its members buy paperback editions of books designed for teens and discuss these and other current literature.

BOYS' CLUB

Pekin High's Boys' Club is a service organiza-tion which meets before school on Wednesday mornings to plan its activities. In the past the Boys' Club has added to the school the dragon on the English building, installed a permanent P.A. system in the girls' gym, and has loaned a portable P.A. for school events.

CHESS AND CHECKERS CLUB

The students who become members of the Chess and Checkers Club are taught an activity that can also be enjoyed during their leisure time. The only requirement for membership is a genuine interest in playing the game or in learning the rules and regulations of the popular pastime.

The large club had over sixty members this year under the sponsorship of the faculty advisors Mr. Workman and Mr. Fildes. In addition to individual games, the members organized tournaments between themselves in which a grand champion was named.

The Football Club's main functions are to teach the fundamentals of the game and study thoroughly Pekin High's football program. Each Wednesday they discussed different defensive and offensive plays, conditioning, and character development. Another activity of this club was to watch movies of past Pekin football games.

FUTURE FARMERS

The Future Farmers of America participate in numerous activities throughout the year, such as public speaking contests, a livestock and a grain fair, and judging. The members also help needy families and contribute to CARE, besides managing their own projects at home. Mr. Cowell is the advisor for this group.

Miss Eleanor Francis, Miss Amy Lee Harris, and Mrs. Phyllis Doxstader are the faculty advisors for the large club. Annually the group presents the Spring Dance Frolic. Throughout the year the members work on tap routines and groups one and two create new dances. Modern Jazz Interpretation, a relatively new aspect of the dance program of the club, is also practiced during the Wednesday activity period. As the date of the Frolic approaches, the members meet after school to perfect the many dances and the dance-interpreted play. The members promote a sales campaign and the proceeds are used to buy records, phonograph equipment, and costumes. A contest is held between the girls and the girl who sells the most tickets receives a prize.

The members enjoy watching movies, listening to lecturers who speak on the aspects of drama, and helping the stage crew build sets for school plays. The club also sells the tickets to these all-school plays and sponsors after-game dances. The proceeds from these projects are used to buy stage equipment.

home, worked in coat checks, and welcomed new teachers by presenting them with flowers on their first day of teaching at P.C.H.S. The girls raised money by selling homecoming mums and having candy sales after school. The girls tried to improve student-teacher relations by sponsoring SAKCOTS (Stop at Kitchen Cup of Tea).

After winning their first two games, the freshmen suffered their only loss of the season at the hands of the Washington sophomores. The rest of the games went smoothly as the frosh stayed unbeaten in Mid-State 8 competition, winning the league Championship for the second year.

This year the sophomores had a disappointing season. Under Coaches Washkevich and Vuvich, they lost seven of ten games; however, four of these losses were by seven or fewer points. The two wins were the East Peoria and Washington games. A tie with Central finished a season which coaches and team wish could have been better.

Win at Limestone

Pekin High's football Chinks ran into another season of bad luck. Starting at Argo, events got progressively worse as they dropped seven straight to tough competition. The only bright spots were a seven to six verdict over Limestone and a five point short comeback during the Woodruff game. It was disappointing to both Coach Wells and the team that Pekin was not on the winning side of the column.

The freshman basketball team had a very successful season under the auspices of Coach Reid. Compiling a record of seventeen wins and one loss, they had the best win-loss record in the MS8 this year. The only loss was later avenged, and the team won fifteen games in a row making this season a most gratifying one.

Frosh-Soph

The frosh-soph basketball team under Coach Beachler had a losing year. Winning four out of their first five games, they hit a slump from which they never recovered. They ended their season by losing to Moline.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

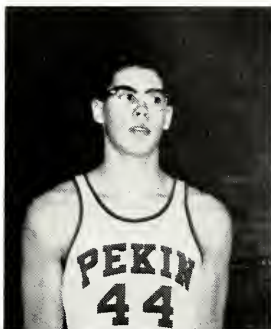

Coach David Hawkins' basketballers finished up the regular season with a 10-13 record. Being variable throughout the year, the Chinks beat everyone in the Mid-State Eight Conference with the exception of E. Peoria and Limestone, but still ended up in fifth place. In tournament play, the Chinks won their own invitational by beating Washington and Proviso East, but were eliminated in the Centralia Holiday Tournament by losing to Centralia and Marion.

Terry Reviere is surrounded by Rams in a game which Pekin won 75-55.

CHEERLEADERS

All cheerleaders seem to agree that their main purpose is to promote the school's spirit and to help cheer our team to victory. With this in mind, the faculty and Student Council choose both the frosh-soph and varsity squads. All girls, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Doxstader, must have at least a "C" average.

Two freshmen and three sophomores comprise the frosh-soph squad, while the varsity cheerleaders have two juniors and three sophomores. During practice, the girls use the Dragon's Den and room three after school on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

CHINK AND CHINKLETTE

At the start of each home basketball game when the lights are dimmed and Chinese music is heard, Pekin fans look eagerly for a glimpse of the Chink and Chinklette. Each year the Student Council spirit committee nominates several junior boys and girls as candidates for this honor. The Student Council then elects one boy and one girl to be the new Chink and Chinklette, who symbolize the warmth, spirit, and good sportsmanship of the students of Pekin High.

Max Hancock and Cheryl Thomas.

PEP RALLIES

This past year pep rallies were held in the boys' gym before most football and basketball games. At the rallies all students were provided with the opportunity to see the players and hear new cheers the cheerleaders had to present. Students were also given a chance to display their gratitude to the players, coaches, and cheerleaders for a job well done. These pep rallies were planned and presented by the members of the Student Council Pep Committee. The council members also participated in the short skits.

Cheerleaders and Student Council members present a skit at one of the many Friday rallies.

CROSS COUNTRY

Again this year the cross country team had an outstanding season. Behind the one—two, punch of Denny Boehler and Rich Rodgers the "Hurrying Harriers" compiled a glittering record by winning 11 dual meets, two triangular meets, and capturing three championships. Also for the first time in Pekin's history the cross country team placed in the top ten at the State Tournament. Congratulations should go to Coach McFeron and his fine squad for putting Pekin on the "Cross Country Map."

The 1963 Pekinian Staff

As the deadline grew nearer, and the fast pace of assembling these pages steadily began to decrease, we were able to turn our thoughts to everyone who helped to make this publication a possibility and a success. We wish to express our gratitude to these people and to you, our readers, for purchasing this annual. We hope you will derive as much enjoyment from it as we did from editing the 1963 Pekinian.

Sincerely,
Susan Goetze, Editor
Laura Calvetti, Asst. Editor
Miss Joy Knox, Advisor
